Extract from "To Autumn"

Season of mists and mellow fruitfulness!

Close bosom-friend of the maturing sun;

Conspiring with him how to load and bless

With fruit the vines that round the thatch-eaves run;

To bend with apples the moss'd cottage-trees,
And fill all fruit with ripeness to the core;
To swell the gourd, and plump the hazel shells
With a sweet kernel; to set budding more,
And still more, later flowers for the bees,
Until they think warm days will never cease,
For Summer has o'er-brimm'd their clammy cells.

John Keats. 1795–1821

Dear Readers

Autumn is here – another season which changes the landscape dramatically. John Keats' poem "To Autumn" sums it up really well. The colours of the trees, late flowers and grasses are, to me, the most beautiful of the year. I love scrunching through the fallen leaves when the weather is crisp, so I hope it doesn't rain too much this month.

Other changes this month are the advert pages! To help you find the services you are looking for, I have tried to group them together under headings, let me know if you find this useful. One of my favourite sections will be food and drink.

Enjoy!
